Part two: Reading Comprehension*Instruction: Read the following passage and answer the questions by choosing the best choice*(a, b, c, or d).*Passage No.1

We all read for a variety of reasons. These reasons change with our age, our interests, and the literature we read. Our basic reason for reading is probably pleasure. We read literature mostly because we enjoy it.

Reading for pleasure may take various forms. We may read just to pass the time. Or, we may want to escape the four walls that usually surround us. Reading serves as a jet airplane that speeds us away from ourselves into the world of others.

We often read for information and knowledge. We find pleasure in learning about life in the Swiss Alps or on the Mississippi River. We find possible solutions to our problems when we meet people in books whose problems are like our own. Through literature, we sometimes understand situations we could not otherwise understand in real life.

We also read simple for the enjoyment we get from the arrangement of words. We can find pleasure in even nonsense syllables, just as children like the sound of "Ring Around the Rosie," although they may know what the words mean.

41. What does the word "it" in line 3 refer to?

- a. Old age                      b. Pleasure                      c. Our basic reason                      d. Literature

42. When can reading help us solve our problems?

- a. When we find pleasure in learning about other people's lives.
b. When we learn about life of people in the Swiss Alps or on the Mississippi River.
c. When we find that we and the people in the book have the same problems.
d. When we read for information and knowledge.

Passage No.2

Nuremberg Trials were a series of 13 trials held in Nuremberg Germany, from 1945 to 1949. In these trials, leaders of Nazi Germany were accused of crimes against international law. Some of the defendants were charged with causing World War II deliberately, and with waging aggressive wars of conquest. Nearly all were charged with murder, enslavement, looting, and the atrocities against soldiers and civilians of occupied countries. Some were also charged with responsibility for the persecution of Jews and other racial and national groups. The Nuremberg Trials were a new development in international law. Trials of war criminals have been carried on in one form or another for hundreds of years. But at Nuremberg, for the first time, the leaders of a government were brought to trial on the charge of starting an aggressive war.

46. What does the name Nuremberg refer to?
- a. A court in Germany    b. A famous event    c. A series of trials    d. A city in Germany
47. Why were the Nuremberg trials held?
- a. To accuse those who had broken international law.
b. To charge all defendants with causing the war.
c. To try Nazi leaders who were war criminals.
d. To find out who deliberately started the war.
